Business: The group's principal activity is to develop and commercialize innovative small molecule drugs for improving cancer treatments. Small molecule drugs are non-protein products produced by chemical synthesis. The group's two product candidates that are currently under development: rsl13 (efaproxiral) and pdx (10-propargyl-10-deazaaminopterin). Rsl13 is a synthetic small molecule that has the potential to sensitize hypoxic (oxygen deprived) tumor tissues and enhance the efficacy of standard radiation therapy. Pdx is an injectable small molecule chemotherapeutic agent that has a superior potency and toxicity profile relative to methotrexate and other related dihydrofolate reductase inhibitors.

Business: The group's principal activity is to manufacture and distribute arcoplate, a wear-resistant fused-alloy-clad steel wear plate, through a patented production process. The arcoplate process enables an alloy overlay to be smoothly and evenly applied to a sheet of steel, which creates a metallurgical bond between the alloy and the steel. This bond is resistant to wear caused by impact, abrasion and erosion. This product is used in machinery, which is used for iron, gold, nickel, copper mining, bulldozer arms and blades, truck box liners and bucket loader liners. The group markets its product in the United States, Australia, Asia and South America.
